FastExcellence Distance learning/Homeschooling

Different tutors have different teaching methods and styles. One of primary benefits of homeschooling is that the tutor can tailor his/her method to the needs of the individual students in a way that cannot be achieved in the larger group classroom setting. There is no set pattern model book for homeschooling or home-education. Every learner is an individual and the tutor need to find the best approach together.

We keep our overheads low and our price plan is simple with no hidden cost.

The FAST EXCELLNCE Approach

Personalised learning, focused on results

Homeschooling is effective when it is personalised to each child. We only work with tutors/ tuition centres who understand how to do this. It is important that they have current subject knowledge. But we also make sure that they have the skills to build a rapport with your child and encourage participation in their learning.

Homeschooling has to be based on a real understanding of a learner/student's level of knowledge and attitude to learning. That's why assignment, both formal and informal is an important part of setting up a homeschool routine/schedule.

Results come in many guises, it may be a specific grade in an A level or a booster in a particular subject to restore confidence and participation in learning. Our tutors/ tuition centres and our client services team will make sure we understand your goals and work towards them. We know it works because we are diligent in identifying the outcomes or results you want at the outset of your homeschooling journey and making sure that this is measured throughout the education programme. And our tutors/ tuition centres will keep you informed. They will give you direct feedback on progress and performance and helpful tips on how you too can support your child.

Experience has taught us what works when it comes to Homeschooling – that's why our clients trust us with their learning.
